

| STRUCTURE

After searching for the structure research, Nathan Chandler has offered that triangles are the strongest shape in the world, because of their characteristic which have the fixed angles and they are not easily deformed. Therefore, I decided to use the triangles to become my main structure in this project, and also add the square and hexagon to create good structures more flexibility.

| MINIMALISM

Minimalism is a free lifestyle which avoid restrictions of modern consumer culture. With the explosive growth of modern information, people are frantically pursuing material well-being. Most people always think that they are happier because the more they have, on the other hand, for those who believe in minimalism, they think that "less is more."
